

KAREN HOLLAND

Ms Karen Holland is the Senior Intelligence Analyst in the Directorate of Data Exploitation, at the National Air & Space Intelligence Center (NASIC), Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. The Directorate of Data Exploitation provides timely, actionable intelligence data products and services to enable intelligence production by our clients and partners. NASIC is the Air Force and Department of Defense Center of Excellence for all-source air and space intelligence, and originates timely predictive, detailed and actionable threat knowledge on foreign capabilities and intentions worldwide. Ms Holland directs over $100M annually supporting the tasking, processing, exploitation and dissemination of intelligence in support of national policymakers, combatant commanders, operational war fighters, the force modernization community and the Intelligence Community. She also leads the planning to advance complex data exploitation efforts.

Ms Holland has served in a variety of positions of responsibility across NASIC and its predecessor organizations since entering federal service in 1985. Prior to her career in the federal government, Ms Holland was employed with Wright State University, Dayton, OH, and Thomas More College, Crestview Hills, KY.
